

Grievance

If you perceive a violation of client rights, you may submit a written or verbal grievance to the program serving you or to the corporate office of Saint Francis Ministries. Once Saint Francis receives a grievance report, the client is connected to the Corporate Clinical Director, who shares it with the Grievance Committee.

The Grievance Committee ...

- Reviews all grievances within 72 hours.
- Ensures that the grievance is investigated in a timely manner.
- Notifies you if members anticipate a more prolonged investigation.

Within five business days following a decision, you will be provided with a written notice of the following:

- The steps taken on behalf of the client to investigate the grievance.
- The results of the investigation and grievance process.
- The date the investigation was completed.
- The subsequent decision of the Committee.
- The name and number of the program contact should you require more information

If you are not satisfied with the response, you may appeal to your contact person, who will advise you of further options available to you.

Do you have a client safety event or concern?

In addition to contacting Saint Francis, you may contact The Joint Commission directly.

As You and Your Family Receive Services

Rights, Roles, and Responsibilities

Roles and Responsibilities

The Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS) refers families to Saint Francis services for support during times of crisis. Saint Francis then works with the family to assess strengths and needs, develops a Child Plan of Service, a Family Plan of Service, and monitor progress. Saint Francis updates DFPS and applicable community partners on case progress.

The assigned case team assists the family in reaching their service plan goals and connecting with community resources. The goal of all services is to provide families with hope and healing while maintaining safety, permanency, and well-being of children.

E-mail Communication

You have the option to communicate with our care providers and administrative services by e-mail. Transmitting confidential information by e-mail, however, has risks that you should consider first.

Risks

- E-mail can be immediately broadcast worldwide and seen by many intended and unintended recipients.
- Recipients can forward e-mail messages to others without the original sender's permission or knowledge.
- Backup copies of e-mail may exist even after the sender or the recipient has deleted their own copy.

Conditions for the Use of E-mail

It is the policy of Saint Francis Ministries to treat sensitive, health-related e-mail messages with the same degree of confidentiality afforded other portions of the medical record. We cannot, however, guarantee the security and confidentiality of e-mail communication.

You must provide consent to use e-mail for confidential information, such as:

- protected health information
- social information
- social security number
- date of birth

Consent includes agreement with the following conditions:

- Do not use e-mail for communications concerning diagnosis or treatment of mental health or developmental disability, alcohol and drug abuse, AIDS/HIV infection, or other sexually transmissible or communicable diseases.
- Saint Francis may forward e-mail messages internally as necessary for diagnosis, treatment, and reimbursement. We will not, however, forward e-mail externally without your consent, or as required by law.
- Although we try to respond to every message promptly, Saint Francis cannot guarantee when the recipient of a particular e-mail will read the message. Therefore, we ask that you do not use e-mail for emergencies.
- If your e-mail requires or invites a response, you are responsible for following up to determine whether the intended recipient received the message.
- Employer e-mail is not private, so you should refrain from using your workplace e-mail system to transmit or receive confidential medical information.
